

RE-SKINNING ROTHENBERG

In September of 2016, amidst a high profile SEC investigation, Mike Rothenberg rebranded his Rothenberg Ventures investment firm to Frontier Tech Venture Capital.

The following spring I was brought on as a marketing and PR consultant, handling both creative direction assignments for his subsidiary, River Studios, as well as crisis management advisement to Rothenberg Ventures. Among my proposals, I convinced Mike that—if he survived the SEC investigation—the brand equity of Rothenberg Ventures was too valuable to dump, and if he didn’t, well then it wouldn’t matter anyway.

Taking my advice, in May 2017, Mike ditched Frontier Tech Venture Capital, whose website began redirecting back the Rothenberg Ventures URL.

I also proposed a website reskin that maintained the existing content, as well as a minor update to his company mark.

Shown at left: By 2017 Rothenberg Ventures was the single largest early stage investor in the entire AR/VR space.
